

GRA 2026 Annual Conference
Agenda

Sunday, July 19

4 p.m. Check into hotel

5:00-7:30 p.m. Opening Evening: Dinner and Networking

Kick off the GRA 2026 Annual Conference with an evening of fun networking and connection. Designed to foster early connections and orient participants to the conference community, the evening will be a relaxed opportunity to meet peers, exchange ideas, and set the stage for the days ahead.

Location: TBD

Monday, July 20

8 a.m. Breakfast at CBOT Conference Center

8:30 a.m. Opening Setting: The Moment for State & Local Policy Research

The conference will formally open with remarks framing the current landscape for state and local policy research. As governments navigate fiscal uncertainty, shifting federal dynamics, and growing demands for impact, this session will set the stage for the day's discussions by highlighting the critical role research organizations play in informing decisions under pressure.

Speakers: Jeff Hornstein and Justin Coppedge

8:45 a.m. Anchor Presentation: Fiscal Sustainability Under Federal Pressure

State and local governments are facing increasing fiscal uncertainty as federal policy changes affect funding streams, program requirements, and intergovernmental relationships. This panel will explore how shifts in areas such as Medicaid, SNAP, and federal funding structures are impacting state and local budgets, as well as how governments are responding to manage volatility and long-term risk. Panelists will provide both national and practitioner perspectives on maintaining fiscal sustainability under federal pressure and highlight one actionable step governments can take to strengthen resilience.

Speakers:

- Jill Fraggos (Lurie Children's Hospital)
- Dean Constantinou (Cook County)
- Scott Leitz (NORC)

Moderator: TBD

10:15 a.m. Anchor Presentation: From Research to Results: Communicating for Influence

Strong research does not drive change on its own—impact depends on how it is translated, amplified, and used by decision-makers. This session explores what actually happens between publishing research and achieving real-world results. Through rapid-fire examples and a moderated conversation, speakers representing different roles in the “research to influence” chain will share what works, what doesn’t, and how to maximize impact even in resource-constrained environments.

Speakers:

- Merrill Davis (Texas 2036)
- Ianna Kachoris (Chicago Community Trust)
- Carlos Ballesteros (Injustice Watch)

Moderator - Megan McNeill (BGR)

4:30 Neighborhood Explorations

Attendees are invited to join Civic Federation staff-led excursions exploring Chicago’s diverse neighborhoods and cultural offerings. Participants may choose from a selection of four curated, free neighborhood experiences, including walking tours in Logan Square,

Pilsen, and Lakeview/Boystown, or an evening music-focused option at the Millennium Park Summer Series. Each experience highlights local food, arts, music, and culture, and the opportunity to join a group dinner at attendees' own expense. Please note that conference registration does not include expenses for this event. Advance registration will be required for all evening activity options due to capacity and transit coordination. All groups will travel together via public transit, with staff providing guidance and meeting points for each excursion.

- Logan Square Neighborhood Exploration - Explore one of Chicago's most vibrant creative corridors via walking tour and local stops.
- Pilsen Arts & Culture Walk - Exploration of Chicago's historic Latinx cultural district.
- Lakeview Cultural Corridor - A walk through one of Chicago's most iconic and historically significant LGBTQ+ neighborhoods.
- Millennium Park Summer Music Night - A relaxed cultural evening in the heart of downtown Chicago.

Tuesday, July 21

8 a.m. Breakfast at CBOT Conference Center

8:30 a.m. Anchor Presentation: Chicago & Illinois Perspectives: Everything is interconnected

Chicago, Cook County, and the State of Illinois are deeply interconnected, shaped by overlapping tax bases, shared service responsibilities, and intergovernmental funding flows. This panel will examine how decisions at one level of government affect others, including impacts on budgeting, service delivery, and long-term fiscal sustainability. Drawing on perspective from city, county, and state leadership, the discussion will highlight key areas of alignment and tension, as well as opportunities for coordination. The session will conclude by identifying lessons and strategies that may be transferable to other states navigating similarly complex intergovernmental systems.
